

RUSSIA'S WAR AGAINST UKRAINE: A Historical & Contemporary Perspective

Wednesday, 9 March 2022, 4:00-5:30pm,
M (Music) Room 120, SDSU Campus

- What are the origins of the Russia-Ukraine war?
- Why has Putin invaded Ukraine?
- What are the war's global implications?
- How will this end?

Join SDSU Professors Mikhail Alexseev (Political Science) and Pierre Asselin (History) for the latest and most pertinent insights on these and related issues. Professors Emily Schuckman Matthews (European Studies) and Daria Shembel (Russian Studies) will provide commentaries. Moderated by Director of SDSU's Center for Human Rights Grace Cheng, this session is free and open to the public.

This session is jointly sponsored by the Dwight E. Stanford Endowment, Center for Human Rights, Center for War & Society/USS Midway Endowment, International Security and Conflict Resolution (ISCOR), and Departments of History and Political Science. Contact Professor Pierre Asselin at passelin@sdsu.edu for more information.